DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office action is in response to the Request for Continued Examination filed 23 April 2007. Claims 28-48 are pending. Claims 1-27 have been cancelled. All objections and rejections not repeated below are withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 44-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 44 recites the limitation "tangible computer readable medium". The term "tangible" is not defined by the Applicant's disclosure and renders the claims' metes and bounds unclear, since it is unclear to the Examiner what exactly constitutes a "tangible" medium. It would be more appropriate to remove "tangible" from the claim limitations.

All dependent claims are rejected as having the same deficiencies as the claims they depend from. Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

4. Claims 41-50 of U.S. Patent Application 10/809,581 contain every element of claims 28 and 30-48 of the instant application and as such provisionally anticipate claims 28 and 30-48 of the instant application.

"A later patent claim is not patentably distinct from an earlier patent claim if the later claim is obvious over, or anticipated by, the earlier claim. In re Longi, 759 F.2d at 896, 225 USPQ at 651 (affirming a holding of obviousness-type double patenting because the claims at issue were obvious over claims in four prior art patents); In re Berg, 140 F.3d at 1437, 46 USPQ2d at 1233 (Fed. Cir. 1998) (affirming a holding of obviousness-type double patenting where a patent application claim to a genus is anticipated by a patent claim to a species within that genus). " ELI LILLY AND COMPANY v BARR LABORATORIES, INC., United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, ON PETITION FOR REHEARING EN BANC (DECIDED: May 30, 2001).

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir.

1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 28, 30-42 and 44-47 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 31-40 of copending Application No. 10/809,581 (hereinafter "'581") in view of Patterson and Hennessy [Computer Architecture: A Quantitative Approach, pages 677-687 and 695-701] (hereinafter "Patterson").

Claim 31 of '581 teaches every elements of claims 28, 39 and 44 except "each of the processing elements further comprises a prefetch page cache, the prefetch page cache configured to store a subset of the plurality of data items and the plurality of direction information items" and the memory transmits data to the processing elements independently "of whether the associated directory information indicates an access mode compatible with the requested access mode". Patterson teaches a cache coherency maintenance method in a multiprocessor system similar to the Applicant's invention, wherein each of the processing element comprises a prefetch page cache, the prefetch page cache configured to store a subset of the plurality of data items and the plurality of direction information items (see Patterson, page 680, Fig. 8.22) in order to provide distribution and fault-tolerance. Patterson further teaches a memory that transmits data to the processing elements independently of whether the associated directory information indicates an access mode compatible with the requested access mode (see Patterson, page 681 and Fig. 8.23, the messages sent among nodes to maintain coherency include memory data and coherence information, and they are sent independently of access mode compatibility, since compatibility tests are performed after receiving the messages) in order to maintain cache coherency. Therefore it would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art at the time of the Applicant's invention to combine the teachings of '581 and Patterson in order to provide distribution, fault-tolerance and cache coherency in a multiprocessor system.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 28 and 30-48 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
